

Terms and Conditions for using the University of Guelph Computing Facilities while attending TechQuest

Participants and parents are required to read and sign this document together

The internet is a wondrous place. During a week at TechQuest (Creative Encounters with Science), participants are invited to 'surf the net' to discover its vast content and explore fascinating issues. However, with people all over the world accessing and contributing to the internet, some material that is available may not be considered appropriate in a youth camp setting. TechQuest computer science and Technology Camp has taken precautions to restrict access to controversial materials but it is impossible to control all of the material on a global network. Creative Encounters has therefore enacted a policy restricting participants accessing questionable material during their week. The following violations will lead to the disciplinary actions of parental phone call and the possible removal from the TechQuest Computer Science and Technology Camp.

Violations include, but are not restricted to:	Parent Initials	Camper Initials
